E.M.P. COLLECTIVE PARTNERS WITH BALTIMORE'S PROJECT PLASE.

BALTIMORE, MD

Baltimore, MD (January 11, 2010) - Online arts collaborative, E.M.P. Collective announces partnership with Baltimore organization Project PLASE.

Project PLASE works to end homelessness in Baltimore by providing transitional and permanent housing with critical services to homeless citizens with special needs, ensuring stability and high quality support tailored to each individual.

E.M.P. is proud to partner with such an important organization, helping Baltimore's homeless for over 30 years. Fifty percent of the proceeds of WE'RE ALL GONNA DIE! will be donated to Project PLASE. Furthermore, food and clothing donations will be accepted at the performances. Patrons donating will receive $1.00 off admission price.

Tickets for WE'RE ALL GONNA DIE! are $8. WE'RE ALL GONNA DIE! will be performed at 1801 Falls Road, Baltimore MD at 8 pm on January 21, 22 and 23, 2010.

For more information about WE'RE ALL GONNA DIE! and the E.M.P. Collective visit www.empcollective.org or contact info@empcollective.org. For more information on Project PLASE and their mission and programs visit www.projectplase.org.
